"Lord, set a guard over my lips today and search my heart. Try me and know my thoughts. See if there is any evil way in me and lead me in the way everlasting (Ps. 139:23-24). If there is anything in my life that displeases You, Father, remove it in Jesus's name. Circumcise my heart, and cause my desires and my words to line up with Yours. In Jesus's name, amen. January 8 REAP WHAT YOU SOW For they sow the wind, and they shall reap the whirlwind. —HOSEA 8:7, ESV What occupies your mind determines what eventually fills your mouth. Your outer world showcases all that has dominated—and at times subjugated—your inner world. Are you aware of the true meaning of the things you are speaking out? As the prophet Hosea remarked, each one of us must take responsibility for what we experience in life. We are the sum total of every choice we have ever made or let happen. If you do not like where you are, you are only one thought away from turning toward the life you desire. Father, make me more aware of the power of my words today. I declare that my season of frustration is over. As I guard my tongue, my life is changing for the best. In the name of Jesus I declare that everything this season should bring to me must come forth. Every invisible barrier must be destroyed. I declare that I am a prophetic trailblazer. I am taking new territory spiritually, emotionally, relationally, and professionally. I decree and declare that You are opening" — Cindy Trimm, Commanding Your Morning Daily Devotional: Unleash God's Power in Your Life--Every Day of the Year Together We Can Heal The World!A best-selling author, high impact teacher, and former senator, Dr. Trimm is a sought-after empowerment specialist, revolutionary thinker, and transformational leader. Chapter Five: You Can Change the Course of Your Destiny Chapter Six: The Importance of Ordering Your Day Chapter Seven: How to Become an Overnight Success Chapter Eight: Commanding Your Morning Conclusion: The Essence of a New Day Notes Foreword There is no activity on earth more common than prayer. Every culture does it. Every race does it. Every religion does it. However, there is no more frustrating, confusing, and suspicious area of human experience than prayer. There are more questions surrounding this religious activity than any other in every generation. Does it really work? Does God answer prayer? Does prayer make a difference? Can prayer affect circumstances? Why does it seem that some prayers are answered and others are not? Why should we pray? The questions go on and on. My own personal experience was plagued with such questions and provided adequate cause for doubt and suspicion regarding the subject of prayer. Over the years my studies and research took me to explore many of the great writers on the subject, and today I am pleased to testify that my experience in prayer has been one of daily improvement and success. When I was asked to review this work by Cindy Trimm, I was excited, knowing that her commitment to excellence in anything she approaches would yield an outstanding contribution to this subject of prayer and intercession. I was not disappointed. Commanding Your Morning is destined to be a classic as it simplifies but does not dilute the gravity of this very critical human spiritual activity. Cindy, with her skillful use of language, leaps over complicated theological jargon and delivers principles that make the daily exercise of prayer embracing and attractive. I challenge those who are disappointed with their prayer lives, the scholar who dares to think beyond the known, and the student of Scripture who desires to know more about prayers as a dominant force in the earthly enforcement of the heavenly kingdom to read this book. Commanding Your Morning releases the overcoming power in the hearts of those who read, receive, and apply these instructions in their daily lives. I firmly believe the precepts in this book will enhance your encounter with the kingdom in the area of strategic prayer and intercession. The revolutionary approach to prayer inside this book will reinforce and welcome deeper revelatory truths on this subject. It is with this confidence that I challenge you, the reader, to peel from every page the treasure house of wisdom buried within each sentence and experience your ability to command the morning. The Word of God revealed through these pages has the ability to realign that which is misaligned, including mind-sets,
